But contradictory to popular belief, the reaches of pharmaceutical aid are far deeper than that. When it comes to medicine, as a rule of thumb, each of the five senses can be treated in different and special ways. Aromatherapy is a special therapy made exactly to manipulate the sense of smell in order to improve a persons mood, cognitive abilities, psychological, and physical performance without the need to infuse the medicine directly into the body system. Rather, by dispersing special molecules into the air, it encourages the body itself to release the chemicals it needs and motivate it to strengthen itself. And that is just the tip of the iceberg. In this book, we have compiled all the necessary details about aromatherapy and we guarantee not to fail in satisfying your curiosity But it does not stop there. Aromatherapy has also proven effective in eliminating harmful microbes and inhibiting their growth before they get worse and cause an infection.
