

A Third Letter to a Member of the Present Parliament on the Proposals for Peace With the Regicide Directory of France (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from A Third Letter to a Member of the Present Parliament on the Proposals for Peace With the Regicide Directory of France In the conclusion of Mr. Burkes second Letter on the Proposals of Peace, he threw out some intimation of the plan, which he meant to adopt in the sequel. A third Letter was mentioned by him, as having been then, in part, written. He intended to proceed next on the question of the facilities possessed by the French Republick, from the internal State of Other Nations, and particularly of this, for obtaining her ends; and, as his notions were controverted, to take notice of what, in that way, had been recommended to him. But the abrupt and unprecedented conclusion of Lord Malmesburys first negotiation, induced him to make some change in the arrangement of his matter.
