

A. Ancient Philosophy (International Library of Philosophy)

Including books published between 1928 and 1957, this 10 volume set presents the thinking of leading philosophers on ancient philosophy towards the first half of the twentieth century. Eight of the books focus on Plato, with some volumes, such as Philosophy of Plato providing a general overview of his philosophy, and others, such as Platos Theory of Art, Platos Theory of Ethics and Platos Theory of Education providing a more in-depth look at particular aspects of his philosophy. Other titles contain translations of key Platonic texts, such as The Teatetus and The Sophist in Platos Theory of Knowledge and The Timaeus in Platos Cosmology. The set also includes a 13th edition of the important title Outlines of the History of Greek Philosophy, by Eduard Zeller, which was originally published in 1883, and Aristotles Theory of Contrariety which gives a good overview of Aristotelian philosophy.
