

Somebodys Gotta Say It LP

Think you've got it all figured out? Think again. Neal Boortz has been edifying, infuriating, and entertaining talk radio audiences for more than three decades with his blend of straight talk and twisted humor. In Somebodys Gotta Say It, Boortz warms up for the coming political season with a preemptive strike in the War on the Individual: The Democrats theme for 2008 will be The Common Good. I can't speak for you, but I am an individual. Government exists to protect my rights, not to order my life. And I damn sure don't exist to serve government. He takes on liberal catchphrases like giving back (Nobody actually earns anything anymore. Why do liberals think this way? Because they find it impossible to acknowledge that people work for money), our rampant civic idiocy (We are not a democracy. Never were. We weren't supposed to be. And we shouldn't be), and Big Brother (We have smoke-free workplaces. We have drug-free school zones. I say let's start establishing government-free oases, where we can be free to leave our seat belts unbuckled, and peel the labels off anything we choose). And somehow, along the way, he finds room for pop quizzes and an answer, once and for all, to the eternal question, Neal, why don't you run for president? In a chapter called No Way in Hell. Full of irresistible wisecracks and irrefutable libertarian wisdom, Somebodys Gotta Say It is one man's response to America at a time when the government overreaches, the people underperform, and the truth hurts.
