

Advocacy for Adults with Down Syndrome (Down Syndrome Issues & Information)

Advocacy by and for adults with Down syndrome is based on the belief that all citizens have the same rights and responsibilities and potential for growth. It is recognised that there is a need to combat the exclusion and discrimination experienced by adults with Down syndrome through enabling them to access their human and legal rights. The contention of this book is that the quality of life of an adult with Down syndrome can be positively enhanced where advocacy is able to promote: personal autonomy and empowerment; self-esteem, self-confidence and self-respect; the development of socially valued relationships; choice of living and other related domestic arrangements; engagement in a range of appropriate educational, social and leisure activities; physical, mental and spiritual well-being; social inclusion; personal safety; protection from discrimination, neglect, maltreatment and abuse; and dignity through participation in acceptable forms of risk taking. The book seeks to define advocacy, explore its origins and describe the various forms of advocacy that are on offer. A number of vignettes are presented in order to illustrate how different forms of advocacy can benefit adults with Down syndrome. Ways in which advocacy can assist people with communication difficulties are examined. Strategies that parents and relatives of adults with Down syndrome can usefully employ when confronted by obstructive agencies are examined. The main steps in setting up an advocacy scheme are outlined. It is accepted that advocacy has the potential to transform the quality of life of adults with Down syndrome but that such empowerment can only be realised through strong, independent, informed and expert representation. A number of ideological, financial and operational factors are identified which may adversely affect the future growth and development of advocacy. The book highlights some of the ideological divisions within the advocacy movement; the most profound of which surrounds the merits or otherwise of developing a more professionalised form of advocacy. Attention is also drawn to the critical importance of advocacy schemes operating independently of any funding agency, for without operational independence, advocacy schemes will lack integrity, authority and influence. The book fully recognises that not all adults with Down syndrome need the kind of support that advocacy schemes can offer. Indeed some of the most effective advocacy is provided by adults with Down syndrome either representing themselves or others.

[\[PDF\] Essays: Or Counsels Civil & Moral, With Other Writings](#)

[\[PDF\] Self-Publishing Masterclass - Mile-High Word-Count & Writing Productivity: Createspace & Kindle Publishing - 5000+ Words-a-Day, Every Day](#)

[\[PDF\] The Maracot Deep \(The Seagull library of mystery and suspense\)](#)

[\[PDF\] Our Work in Palestine: An Account of the Different Expeditions Sent Out to the Holy Land by the Committee of the Palestine Exploration Fund Since the Establishment of the Fund in 1865](#)

[\[PDF\] The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Vol. 1 \(Classic Reprint\)](#)

[\[PDF\] Edvard Munch: Chronology of Paintings 1905-1920](#)

[\[PDF\] Dante Allighieris Gottliche Komodie \(German Edition\)](#)

Advocacy 101 - National Down Syndrome Society NDSS advocates for education laws and policies that uphold the rights of individuals with Down syndrome to receive a free and appropriate public education in Living with Down syndrome - Kent Wide Down Syndrome Group People with Down syndrome are at increased risk for certain health problems compared to the general population. This section offers information about these Mental Health Issues & Down Syndrome - National Down Syndrome Mission: To be a resource and advocacy organization promoting public awareness THREADS (Together Empowering Adults with Down Syndrome) provides current activities, contact information, links to resources, and archived copies of all individuals with Down syndrome on medical, educational and legal issues. Finding Support - National Down Syndrome Society Ear, nose, and throat problems are common in children with Down syndrome. Adults with Down syndrome are also at high risk for conductive hearing loss. Speech & Language Therapy for Children & Adolescents with Down Down Syndrome Issues and Information is a unique range of publications that provide comprehensive information and practical advice about the range of Down Syndrome Issues and Information accurate information and education about what to anticipate as a part of x Provide an advocacy framework for medical and psychosocial needs commonly Adults with Down syndrome experience accelerated aging, meaning that they experience certain help point out the key issues to look for over the lifespan. Managing Behavior - National Down Syndrome Society This section includes information on conditions that are more likely to occur in Issues that effect adolescents and adults with Down syndrome and their families now focusing on advocacy for Down syndrome research on the federal level, Ear, Nose & Throat Issues & Down Syndrome - National Down they include information about the kinds of medical conditions that individuals with Down syn. for early intervention, diet and exercise and other issues across the lifespan. Adult. Based on the 1999 Down Syndrome Health Care Guidelines for . About the NDSS National Advocacy & Public Policy Center Advocacy Education - National Down Syndrome Society This section includes background information yo. In the case of Down syndrome advocacy, these issues are usually related to healthcare and research, Health Care - National Down Syndrome Society This section includes information about inclusion, elementary and secondary schooling, and college and postsecondary options for students with Down Webinar Series - National Down Syndrome Society People with Down syndrome have an increased risk for certain medical conditions such as congenital heart defects, respiratory and hearing problems, Life After High School - National Down Syndrome Society with Down syndrome mature into an adult who is as independent as possible. . to be their child's greatest advocate, ultimate responsibility for good transition planning falls on them. . Information about employment and youth with disabilities Throat Issues & Down Syndrome Endocrine Conditions & Down Syndrome Health Care Guidelines - National Down Syndrome Society The behavioral challenges seen in children and adults with Down syndrome are Many times, behavior issues can be addressed by finding ways to help the person with suggestions, support and information about community treatment programs. . About the NDSS National Advocacy & Public Policy Center Advocacy Adults with Down Syndrome Information for Self Advocates - Community Building. Canadian Down Syndrome Society - Forum : a website for adults with Down syndrome. There are two The back issues of their newsletter, Down 2 Earth, are available to download. Living with Down Syndrome - Down Syndrome Research Foundation Brown R. Life for adults with Down syndrome - An overview. . It is a tribute to parental concern and advocacy, health care and educational development, that it Supporting the Student with Down Syndrome in Your Classroom accurate information and education about what to anticipate as a part of x Provide an advocacy framework for medical and psychosocial needs commonly Adults with Down syndrome experience accelerated aging, meaning that they The next section will outline the medical and physical issues that are common with Aging and Down Syndrome - National Down Syndrome Society TRUTH: Adults with Down syndrome are not children, and should not be considered children. They enjoy activities and companionship with other adults, and Advocacy and Adults with Down Syndrome - Google Books Result More generally, though, weight management issues in individuals with Down syndrome are often due Advocate Medical Group Adult Down Syndrome Center. If they don't have one, ask why and offer to share your expertise as a parent or family member of a person with Down syndrome on critical issues that your family Legislative Agenda - National Down Syndrome Society Teenagers and young adults with Down syndrome often express interest in . Provides broad information and advocacy on sexuality issues, sexual health and Resources - National Down Syndrome Society Down Syndrome Facts - National Down Syndrome Society Adults with Down syndrome are now reaching old age on a regular basis and are it is important to be proactive and learn about the issues that may lie ahead. with their families and caregivers, need accurate information and education about what . About the NDSS National Advocacy & Public Policy Center Advocacy Weight Management for Adults with Down Syndrome - National Speech-language pathologists have information and expertise to help address the speech and language problems faced by many children with Down syndrome Aging and Down Syndrome - National Down Syndrome Society Issues that affect adolescents and adults with Down syndrome and their families This section contains information for employers who are looking to hire Sexuality & Down Syndrome - National Down Syndrome Society NDSS can provide you with information on how to get started. Support for fathers of children and adults with Down syndrome Caregiving advocacy organization with tips and statistics on caregiving in America Nose & Throat Issues & Down Syndrome Endocrine Conditions & Down Syndrome Gastrointestinal Tract