

Oliver Cromwells Letters and Speeches, Vol. 4 of 5: With Elucidations (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Oliver Cromwells Letters and Speeches, Vol. 4 of 5: With Elucidations

Great lakes of watery Correspondence relating to the History of this Period, as we intimate, survive in print; and new are occasionally issued upon mankind 1 but the essence of them has never yet in the smallest been elaborated by any man - will require a succession and assiduous series of many men to elaborate it. To pluck-up the great History of Oliver from it, like drowned Honour by the locks; and show it to much-wondering and, in the end, right-thankful England! The richest and noblest thing England hitherto has. The basis England will have to start from again, if England is ever to struggle Godward again, instead of struggling Devil ward, and Mammonward merely. Serene element of Cant has been tried now for two Centuries; and fails. Serene element, general completed life-atmosphere, of Cant religious, Cant moral, Cant political, Cant universal, where England vainly hoped to live in a serene soft-spoken manner, - England now finds herself on the point of choking there; large masses of her People no longer able to get even potatoes in that serene element. England will have to come out of that; England. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
