BORN: August 5, 1844 in Chuguyev, Russian Empire. DIED: September 29, 1930 in Kuokkala, Finland. MOVEMENT: Realist INTERESTING FACTS: In 1866, Repin first studied with local icon painter Bunakov. He then studied at the Imperial Academy of Arts in Saint Petersburg. In 1871, Repin graduated. He was awarded a golden medal and the right to study in Europe at the expense of the Academy for his painting Resurrection of Jairs Daughter. From 1873-76, Repin traveled to Italy and Paris at the Academys expense. His exposure to the French Impressionists had a lasting effect on his use of color and light. Repin painted Sadko and became an academician of the Academy of Fine Arts for his work on this picture. In 1874, Repin became a member of The Itinerants, the Russian realist art group. In 1878, Repin joined the Association of Peredvizhniki Artists. A free-thinking group that rebelled against the academic formalism of the Imperial Academy. In 1882, the Repins moved to St. Petersburg. There Repin entered The Itinerants exhibition with his historical painting Ivan the Terrible Killing His Son, painted in 1885. In 1901, Repin worked on a picture commissioned by the government Ceremonial Session of the State Council 1900. In 1920, Finnish artists accepted Repin as an honorary member of the Finnish Artists Society. Ten years later,

Repin died on September 29, 1930. Repin is rated in the number one category of most famous artists of all time according to the United Artists Rating.
