

The Truth About Men and Love

For it be the truth ... Behind every great man stands a great woman. To many, The Truth About Men and Love title is probably an oxymoron. To those that don't know what an oxymoron is, well, it's a bit like saying ground pilot, Hells Angels, liquid gas, seriously funny and certainly the ultimate... free love, which must rate as the greatest oxymoron. Or am I being a little cynical? I can't help but wonder... if women had ruled the world, would the world have been a kinder, more caring place? Men as leaders have murdered some 600 million people over the last century. Would this have been the case if women had been our political leaders, or more importantly the leaders in our relationships? It's about time men started realising women have so much to offer in so many ways. Men need women more than they know yet still continue to treat them without true equality. Men and women need to start being friends again, treat each other with respect, learn to love truly and laugh like there is no tomorrow. Enjoy.
