

Lays of Ancient Rome: Horatius, Battle of the Lake Regillus, Virginia, Prophecy of Capys (Classic Reprint)

Text-Book on English Literature, With copious extracts from the leading authors, English and American. With full Instructions as to the Method in which these are to be studied. Adapted for use in Colleges, High Schools, Academies, etc. By BRAINEKD KELLOGG, A.M., Professor of the English Language and Literature in the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute, Author of a Text-Book on Rhetoric and one of the Authors of Reed Kellogg's Graded Lessons in English, and Higher Lessons in English. Handsomely printed. 12mo, 478 pp. The Book is divided into the following Periods: Period I. Before the Norman Conquest, 670-1066. Period II. From the Conquest to Chaucer's death, 1066-1400. Period III. From Chaucer's death to Elizabeth, 1400-1558. Period IV. Elizabeth's reign, 1558-1603. Period V. From Elizabeth's death to the Restoration, 1603-1660. Period VI. From the Restoration to Swift's death, 1660-1745. Period VII. From Swift's death to the French Revolution, 1745-1789. Period VIII. From the French Revolution, 1789, onwards. Each Period is preceded by a Lesson containing a brief summary of the great historical events that have had somewhat to do in shaping or coloring the literature of that period. The author aims in this book to furnish the pupil that which he cannot help himself to. It groups the authors so that their places in the line and their relations to each other can be seen by the pupil; it throws light upon the authors' times and surroundings, and notes the great influences at work, helping to make their writings what they are: it points out such of these as should be studied. Extracts, as many and as ample as the limits of a text-book would allow, have been made from the principal writers of each Period. Such are selected as contain the characteristic traits of their authors, both in thought and expression, and but few of these extracts have ever
